Jon,

Any update on this? Last week, John Lowe told me you were checking with your client, but I have not heard anything since.

As Gabriel Quearry (newly cc'd) explains in his declaration, he does not believe that the information is properly designated as confidential and that it is not subject to any protective order. Nevertheless, and as I explained in the reply itself, we did the filing under seal, as a courtesy to you and your client, in case you disagree and have some theory we missed about why any of the information in Gabe's declaration, or his accompanying exhibit, should be deemed confidential.

The court's local rule on sealing documents suggests some urgency to this kind of issue. So if I do not have a convincing explanation from you by the end of the week as to why this needs to remain sealed, I am going to have to file an application to unseal Gabe's declaration and accompanying exhibit. If you agree that it should not be deemed confidential, then we should file a joint stipulation to unseal those items. If you can convince me that the information should remain under seal, I would be happy to join in a stipulation to that effect. However, at present, I have a hard time imagining what could be appropriately deemed confidential with respect to Gabe's declaration and the accompanying exhibit.

Best regards,
Morgan

Jon H.,

I am not sure if you get a copy of any "Sealed Documents" so please see attached.

Let me know if you think this needs to stay sealed. If so, please explain your theory as to why. One way or another, we should file something saying either we agree it shouldn't be sealed, or that it should, first thing next week.

I really do not think it needs to be sealed, but since its your client's info, and there is a protective order of some sort in the subject case, I thought I would at least let you weigh in before I filed it publicly.

Best regards,
Morgan
